Baby Boomer Personnel is a web site that allows employers to easily find experienced people available for hire on a contract basis.

As the baby boomer generation goes into retirement, many of those people may want to make themselves available for short term projects in their field of expertise. This wealth of experience is quite valuable to employers looking for skilled people that require little or no training to step into a position for a limited period of time. Baby Boomer Personnel is a place for experienced persons available on contract to post what they have to offer, and a place for employers to review the postings and make contact with those persons of whom they are interested.
